

Pocket Fishing Kit...

Just sharing some ideas that I borrowed from a member off another board. I'm using a container a little larger than a film canister:

One of the better ideas was using a very small safety pin to organize the hooks...then cover them with a little tinfoil for flat packing and keeping them from getting tangled. I added a couple of large brass safety pins for fish-line eyelets on an improvised fishing pole and a really small razor blade.

Fish line is 30lb Spyderwire, two small sewing spools (several yards)

Weighted mini worms

A few assorted flies and weighted nymphs

Assorted barbed hooks

Assorted treble hooks

A couple rooster tail lures

Some different sized spinner jigs

Several swivel clips

Assorted split shot weights

A few minnow lures

Assorted needles

Just a small kit to throw into my second line or smaller pack. I have a little more robust trapping/snaring/fishing kit, but this fills the "travel light" niche 😊
